THE BRIDE'S PLANNING
GUIDE TO A perfect ROCKY MOUNTAIN WEDDING

REAL WEDDING

Cara + Andrew
SUN VALLEY

Cara and Andrew met in Los Angeles, and not by chance. The couple met on Jdate – a Jewish dating site. Like any good mother would, Cara's mom coaxed her into signing up! For the first few months, she had no luck. Cara was just about to give up until she received a message from Andrew. She thought she would give it one last shot. On their first date, Andrew took Cara out to a nice restaurant in Beverly Hills. During the meal, Andrew got up to use the restroom, and Cara texted her mom, "This guy is great. Pretty sure this is IT!" The rest is history. Four months into their relationship, they booked a month long trip to Peru and have been traveling the world together as best friends and soulmates ever since! When it came to their July 31st destination wedding they created a gorgeous day tailored to who they are as individuals as well as their deep, playful love for one another!

REAL WEDDING

TALK ABOUT PERSONAL DETAILS!

The bride, with the help of her father-in-law, designed the entire event! From their customized logo to their branded decor, the bride carefully crafted every detail which led to an overall theme that couldn't be duplicated or beat. When friends and family asked Cara what her wedding colors were she would laugh and say, "personality!" The weekend was all-encompassing - Cara and Andrew!

LOVE IN FOCUS

"Andrew and I listened to ourselves. We tried not to follow any wedding trends. You know, looking back, we even challenged the trends. The two of us did what we wanted to do. It was refreshing! The whole experience was truly fun, exciting and a little silly...100% us! It was truly the best weekend of our lives, and not just because of that big day, but because the entire weekend felt like a summer-camp of activities with all of our favorite people."

REAL WEDDING

BENEATH THE STARS

Cara and Andrew incorporated Jewish traditions into their day. During the ceremony the couple exchanged vows under a floral adorned huppah, which symbolizes the creation of a new home. It was special to the bride and groom to have their parents as such an integral part of their ceremony. Later on in the evening, the newlyweds even had their guests join them to dance the hora under the stars!

LEAVE IT ON THE DANCE FLOOR!

"The dancing was everything to us and easily became one of the most memorable aspects of our wedding. We actually had two different dance floors! Our DJs were amazing, and Andrew and I created six different playlists. The songs we chose escalated throughout the night from classic jazz and acoustics to EDM and 90's hip hop. My goal was to not leave the dance floor, and I never did!"

ADVICE TO ROCKY MOUNTAIN COUPLES

"Don't wait and leave it all until the end! Start planning right right away. Do it slowly overtime and make the process enjoyable. Most importantly, forget what your wedding is 'supposed' to be. You'll never remember what your colors were, or whether you had the right number of candles, but you'll remember how you felt. So make the celebration all about you and your other half."
